

I wish to register a complaint that Sinclair Broadcasting will be using the public airwaves to air a program with a clear political agenda right before the presidential election of November 2, 2004.

The company's decision to force local media outlets to pre-empt regularly scheduled programming is in violation of any equal time rules. The show, "Stolen Honor: Wounds That Never Heal," has a clear bias against Democratic candidate Senator John Kerry. Showing it during prime-time hours next week is not in the public interest, unless the media conglomerate is willing to show something with an anti-Bush bias, also during prime time, and also before the election.

The documentary "Fahrenheit 9/11" has been shown only in theatres and on DVD, not on the free airwaves.

Please censure Sinclair Broadcasting so they will not be permitted to use their size, clout, and money to influence this very important free election in the United States.
